STATISTICS OF LAND-GRANT COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES, YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1949

THIS is the report of 69 land-grant institutions for the year ended June 30, 1949. A preliminary report giving selected data from those institutions that had reported at that time was prepared and distributed at the meeting of the Association of Land-grant Colleges and Universities in Kansas City, Mo., on October 25-27, 1949. The report included data from the annual reports on enrollments and degrees from 60 institutions, and on finances from 58 institutions.

The land-grant colleges—so-called because public lands were granted to the States for their establishment or support—operate in each of the 48 States and in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. In States maintaining segregated school systems, separate land-grant colleges have been established for Negro students.

The land grants to the States were made by the Morrill Act of 1862 in order to foster the development, in at least one college in each State, of education in agriculture and the mechanic arts. Each State was left to decide whether the college should be made a part of an already existing institution (commonly the State university) or whether it should be a completely separate institution. About half the States adopted one policy and half the other. Hence more than half the States have both a State university and a land-grant institution on separate campuses, usually under separate boards of control. A number of States which established separate land-grant institutions have in recent decades joined their State universities and their land-grant colleges or universities under single boards in their efforts to coordinate the programs of the two institutions in a given State. A few States, notably Delaware, New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania, utilize as land-grant institutions universities under varying degrees of private control. (A fuller statement on the history of land-grant colleges and universities appears in the report for the year ended June 30, 1948.)

THE QUESTIONNAIRES.—The second Morrill Act (1890) requires that each land-grant college and university make two reports annually: (1) a detailed statement by the treasurer of Federal appropriations received and disbursed; and (2) a report by the president regarding the condition and progress of the institution.

The detailed statement by the treasurer was requested and made in the same form that has been used by the Office of Education for the past 13 years.

The report by the president is requested in two parts and a supplement. Part I gives the number of staff members, variously classified, students, and degrees, by level and by field; part II shows financial transactions and condition of the institution; the supplement (schedule G) details the funds received from the Federal Government, the total of which is carried in part II, the report on educational and general income of the institution.

The data on the number of freshman students and the number of students enrolled in the fall term were taken from the fall survey of enrollments in institutions of higher education in 1948.

Few changes were made in the form of the reports requested from the presidents in 1948-49. The question on income from the Federal Government was separated into four subdivisions, as follows: (a) Regular recurring appropriations to land-grant institutions; (b) research under special contracts; (c) grants from the Veterans' Administration for tuition and fees of veterans; (d) all other grants from the Federal Government including those provided by the Army, Navy, the United States Public Health service for special programs, and the TVA.

STAFF.—There was a small increase of 2.2 percent in the total number of full-time staff members in institutions for white¹ students. Men staff members increased 2.9 percent, but the number of women staff members decreased less than one-half of 1 percent from the previous year. In the 17 institutions for Negroes, the full-time staff increased by 2.8 percent.

STUDENTS (undergraduate, graduate, and special).—Data for 1948-49 show regular session enrollment of 498,455 in the "white" institutions, compared with 498,877 for 1947-48, a decrease of 422 students, less than one-tenth of 1 percent. There were 2,759 more men students enrolled in 1948-49 than in 1947-48 but 3,181 fewer women students. In the 17 institutions for Negroes the total enrollment for 1948-49 shows a decrease. Broken-down by sex, the trend is in the opposite direction from that in the "white" institutions—the men students decreased by 367, while the women increased by 293—a net decrease of 124 in the total number of students in the 1948-49 period from the previous period.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS, BY FIELD.—There is a net decrease of approximately 2 percent in the total undergraduate enrollment in 1948-49 under the enrollment for 1947-48 in the "white" institutions.

¹ Wherever "white" is used in this bulletin it included all students except those enrolled in the 17 institutions maintained for Negroes in the 17 Southern States. There are, therefore, a certain number of Negro students included in the "white" classification in the nonsegregated schools.

In the institutions for Negroes there is a decrease in the undergraduate enrollment of approximately 3 percent under the figures of 1947-48. The decrease occurs almost entirely in the arts and science field.

The forms submitted to the institutions for 1946-47 and 1947-48 provided for students enrolled in "commerce" and "education" to be reported as "other professional." The form for 1948-49 was revised to include commerce and education in their separate classifications. This change in reporting accounts for most of the decrease in the number of students enrolled under "other professional." If the number of students in commerce and education are added to the total of other professional, students in this classification in 1948-49 will total 91,228 as compared to 74,315 in 1947-48. All other fields, except agriculture, show small decreases.

DEGREES.—The total number of degrees conferred in all fields increased in 1948-49 over 1947-48. Total bachelor's and first professional degrees for men increased 41 percent; for women, 0.5 percent. Total master's degrees increased 20 percent and total doctor's degrees, 33 percent. Degrees in all fields and at all levels show increases except in bachelor's degrees to women in arts and sciences.

INCOME.—In institutions for white students the total educational and general income for 1948-49 shows an increase of $47,630,481, or 10.4 percent over the period of 1947-48. When the income from the Federal Government is broken down into subdivisions, only the income from the Veterans' Administration for veterans' fees shows a decrease. This is offset many times by the net increase of $17,687,265 from other Federal grants and appropriations.

The total educational and general income in the colleges for Negroes shows an increase over the 1947-48 period of approximately 33 percent. The increases occurred in all categories except from private benefactions.

EXPENDITURES.—Total expenditures for educational and general expenses in 52 white institutions in 1948-49 increased $59,670,193 or 14 percent over the previous period. Every service showed increases, the greatest being the 20-million-dollar increase in the field of separately budgeted organized research. Total expenditures in the 17 colleges for Negroes increased 18 percent.

FEDERAL FUNDS.—The amounts received from the regular recurring appropriations by Congress to the land-grant institutions remain practically the same from year to year, except in the case of a new fund that becomes available to the institutions at graduated rates for the first few years it is in effect. The Research and Marketing Act (Hope-Flannagan) made available an appropriation under such conditions under Law 733. The income from this fund is, therefore, greater in 1948-49 than in 1947-48, the first year it became effective.

1 Additions to fund are from sale of lands and timber, and from royalties on iron ore—all from lands received from the 1863 Federal land grant.

2 Institution reports that $16,818 of this amount is from a public appropriation.
3 Institutions omitted reported no endowment or other nonreimbursable funds.
